Award-Winning Author Releases Magical Tale of Second Chances

Kingston, NY, November 18, 2015 – Award-winning Hudson Valley author Laurie Boris has just published her sixth novel, A Sudden Gust of Gravity. The story, a contemporary romantic-suspense tale set in Boston, features a young woman looking to redeem the traumas of her past by returning to her once-abandoned pursuit of a career in magic, a field still mostly dominated by men.

When Reynaldo the Magnificent, a charming street performer, wants Christina Davenport to be his assistant, she balks at first. She'd vowed never again to don a frilly costume and smile in the background. Then she realizes the offer could be a brilliant opportunity—a second chance to overcome her fears and become a magician in her own right. But as the egomaniacal Reynaldo grows jealous of the attention Christina is getting, she questions if the opportunity he promises is worth the price of admission.

According to one reviewer, A Sudden Gust of Gravity is “An entertaining mix of intrigue and romance. A well-written tale with a magical feel as well as a magical plot line. This is a story of second chances, an uplifting look about not settling for less than you deserve. Delightfully endearing.”
